SIGNIFICANT ISSUES IN HEALTH CARE

The Heart of a Woman

An informative discussion on women's heart health, including prevention and cutting-edge treatments for heart disease and how women's hearts differ from men's.

Thursday, November 12, 2009, 6-8 p.m.

Yale-New Haven Hospital
Institute for Excellence Auditorium
300 George Street, New Haven

Presented by

John Elefteriades, MD
Chief, Cardiothoracic Surgery
Yale-New Haven Hospital

Dr. Elefteriades, a professor of cardiothoracic surgery for Yale University, also directs the Center of Thoracic Aortic Disease at Yale. Among the most clinically active academic surgeons in the country, he performs all aspects of adult cardiac and thoracic surgery. His other specialties include aneurysm and arrhythmia surgery.

A published author, Dr. Elefteriades will share information from his book The Women's Heart: An Owner's Guide and his newest publication, Transplant, a medical mystery novel.
